SCHOLARSHIPS & YOUTH AWARDS

FRS Youth Tour

The Foundation for Rural Service's (FRS) annual Youth Tour is one of the most visible examples of the foundation's involvement with, and commitment to, rural youth. Each year, in collaboration with NTCA member companies, FRS brings rural students from across the United States to Washington, DC, for a four-day tour of some of the most historical sites in the nation.

This year's tour was May 30th - June 3rd. While there, students also learned about the telecommunications industry, as well as the regulatory and legislative processes. Educational sessions on these topics were greatly enhanced by site visits to the U.S. Capitol and the FCC to meet with industry leaders and members of Congress. The students were also given ample time to explore the nation's capital and its many attractions.

Polar was proud to sponsor three local students this year; Abbie Watkins, Jessica Johnson and Julia Johnson. Here is what the students had to say about their trip:

Abbie Watkins - "I would like to thank Polar Communications for sponsoring my trip to the 2015 FRS youth tour in Washington DC. I had a blast and met many new friends! I had the pleasure to be able to visit many different exhibits at the Smithsonian, take a bus tour in the Arlington cemetery, and visit many memorials including: the Vietnam, holocaust, JFK, Theodore Roosevelt and the Martin Luther King Jr.. I had many great experiences at Mount Vernon, from seeing our first president George Washington's house, to seeing the beautiful lake at the bottom of the hill. Thank you to all who made this trip possible for me, it was truly a wonderful experience and I had an amazing time!"

Jessica Johnson - "I was so excited to find out that not only I, but my twin sister and Abbie, had been chosen for the FRS youth tour. I had always wanted to go to Washington, D.C. and I'm very grateful that Polar gave me the opportunity! Some of my favorite things about the trip were meeting new friends, the Library of Congress, the night tour, and the Newseum. Thank you so much Polar for this great opportunity and all the memories!"

Julia Johnson - "Thank you so much to Polar for sending us on this trip! I learned so much about telecommunications and had a lot of fun. My favorite part was meeting people from all over the country and touring the Washington Monument. Thanks again for this wonderful opportunity!"

Leadership Scholarship

The Leadership Scholarship is sponsored by Polar Communications, in cooperation with its retired employees. The recipient of the 2015 Polar Leadership Scholarship in the amount of $2,000 is being awarded to Bethany Brumbaugh of Cavalier, North Dakota. Bethany is currently a freshman at UND, majoring in psychology.

FRS Scholarship

The Foundation for Rural Service (FRS) offers an annual college scholarship program to students from rural America for their first year of college, university, or vocational-technical school. Each student is sponsored by an NTCA member company.

This year's recipients are Hope Jehlicka of Fordville, North Dakota, and Alexis Tatum of Neche, North Dakota. Hope is receiving $2,500 with $2,000 coming from FRS and $500 from the sponsoring company, which is Polar in this case. Alexis is receiving $3,000 from FRS. The FRS College Scholarship Program seeks to encourage students to return to their rural communities upon completing their education.

Get the Most From Your WiFi

Four Ways to Improve Your Internet

Polar is offering lightning fast broadband Internet speeds, but if your WiFi router is out of date or not set up correctly, your service may not be as fast as it could be. Here are some tips to help improve your Internet service.

1. Choose the right channel and frequency. Routers have numerous channels. Sometimes just changing the channel can make a big difference. Channel 6 is the default of most routers, so we would advise against using it. You run the highest risk of it being congested, especially in apartments and condos. A better choice would be choosing a channel closer to 1 or closer to 11. Routers also have different frequencies. Generally speaking 2.4 GHz is better for bigger homes with multiple floors because the signal travels farther and through walls. For smaller rooms or homes, 5 GHz is great because it offers faster speed, just at a shorter range.

2. Move your router to its ideal position. Keep your router centrally located and away from water, windows, and thick walls made of brick or concrete. Another option is to install a wireless access point in the locations which have issues. A wireless access point will “boost” or “repeat” the signal in the areas in which it is installed. Installation involves running an Ethernet cable from your router to the location of the access point. Once connected, traffic will run from the router, through the Ethernet cable, and be broadcast wirelessly from the new access point.

3. Make sure your router is secure. Protecting your router with a password or limiting which devices can access your network will keep other people from using it and slowing it down.

4. Update your router. It may surprise you the number of devices in your home that are accessing your network. Things like computers, phones, tablets, gaming consoles, and smart TVs can easily exceed your router’s capacity if used simultaneously. A router is essentially the brain of your network, as everything runs through it. A high WiFi signal is not an indicator of high WiFi speed. Issues can arise if your router cannot handle the amount of traffic passing through it.

Please contact our office if you have questions or would like suggestions on improving your WiFi service at 284.7221 or 800.284.7222.
