

POLAR COMMUNICATIONS ACCEPTABLE USE POLICY

1. INTRODUCTION

Polar's Acceptable Use Policy ("AUP") is intended to help enhance the use and enjoyment of the Internet by all users, as well as the use and enjoyment of Polar's Internet access services (the "Services"). It applies to, and must be complied with by, all users of Polar's Services, including non-subscribers (e.g., relatives, friends, guests, employees, independent contractors, agents, customers, visitors and others who access the Internet via a subscriber's account, address, circuit, line, terminal or service) as well as subscribers (who are responsible for use of their account, address, circuit, line, terminal or service by non-subscribers).

Under normal circumstances, Polar does not actively monitor the use of its Services. Likewise, Polar does not exercise editorial control over the content of web sites (other than certain proprietary web sites), email transmissions, news groups, or other materials created or accessible over or through its Services. However, Polar will investigate, or cooperate with investigations by legal authorities and other authorized entities of, instances or patterns of reasonably suspected unlawful or unacceptable use that come to its attention or that are brought to its attention by third parties.

Violation of this AUP may result in: (a) the suspension or termination of a subscriber's service or account; (b) the imposition of additional administrative and/or reactivation charges; and/or (c) the institution of legal actions to enjoin violations and/or collect damages.

Polar reserves the right to revise, amend or modify this AUP at any time and in any manner. Polar will label each changed AUP with a new adoption date and will include a copy of the current AUP on its web site.
